FREE STARTER KIT / 1

FROM ZERO TO YOUR FIRST POST

Follow the stages in order. Use the worksheets as you go. You will finish with a clear idea, a script, and a posting checklist you can reuse.

01 DEFINE YOUR PURPOSE

Decide why you are creating and what you want to happen.

02 FIND YOUR IDEA

Pull a useful angle from something real.

03 WRITE THE VIDEO

Create curiosity, develop one point, deliver the payoff.

04 FILM IT

Use the phone, light, and space you have.

05 EDIT IT

Remove dead time and make the words easy to follow.

06 POST AND IMPROVE

Publish, review, and improve one thing next time.

USE THE TOOLS

A one-page posting checklist, reusable video outline, and 30-post review tracker are included at the back. The challenge button on each page opens the 30-day daily post challenge: daily accountability, weekly calls, coaching, resources, and a community to create alongside.

START HERE

THE FIRST-POST PATH

Use this page when you want to make something today. The later stages explain each step in more detail.

1. PICK ONE TOPIC

Start with why you are creating content and what you want to happen. Choose one point for this video that serves that purpose.

2. WRITE THREE PARTS

Hook: open a specific question.

Retain: use a story, example, anecdote, or context to develop the point.

Reward: answer the question and deliver the lesson, reveal, or result.

3. RECORD IT SIMPLY

Wipe the lens. Face a window. Use a quiet room or your car. Keep the phone steady, look at the lens, and speak to one person. Record line by line if that helps.

4. MAKE A QUICK EDIT

Cut pauses and ums. Add captions you can read and correct the words. Watch the whole video once and remove another boring second.

5. CHECK IT, THEN PUBLISH

Use the posting checklist. Write the caption in three lines: what it is, why it matters, what to do. Ask whether you would share the video with a friend because it is good.

THEN DO THE NEXT ONE

The improvement loop is simple: make a video, watch your own work critically, study what keeps your attention in other content, and apply what you learn.

01

YOUR PURPOSE

Why are you creating content in the first place? Define what you want to happen. That purpose will influence the type of content you create.

YOUR GOAL: KNOW WHY YOU ARE DOING THIS

STAGE 01 / YOUR PURPOSE / 4

WHY ARE YOU CREATING?

Start with the outcome you want. Content can serve different purposes, and your purpose should influence what you make.

BE KNOWN

Do you want more people to know who you are?

CREATE CHANGE

Are you working toward social or political change?

DRIVE LEADS

Do you want to bring leads to your business?

SHARE A MESSAGE

Is there something you want people to hear?

NAME THE REASON

Ask yourself why you want to create content in the first place. The answer could be recognition, business leads, social change, political change, sharing a message, or another specific outcome.

DEFINE WHAT YOU WANT TO HAPPEN

Write the outcome in your own words. What would you want to happen because you started making content? Give yourself a clear answer before deciding what to post.

LET THE PURPOSE SHAPE THE CONTENT

The type of content you create should be influenced by what you are trying to do. When choosing an idea, return to your purpose and ask how this video serves it.

YOUR NEXT ACTION

Complete the purpose worksheet. Keep your reason and desired outcome beside you while you choose your first idea.

DEFINE YOUR PURPOSE

Use your own words. You are deciding why you want to create content, what you want to happen, and how that should influence what you make.

WHY AM I DOING CONTENT IN THE FIRST PLACE?

WHAT DO I WANT TO HAPPEN BECAUSE OF IT?

IS IT RECOGNITION, LEADS, CHANGE, A MESSAGE, OR ANOTHER OUTCOME?

HOW SHOULD THAT PURPOSE INFLUENCE THE TYPE OF CONTENT I CREATE?

HOW DOES MY FIRST VIDEO SERVE THAT PURPOSE?

KEEP THIS BESIDE YOUR SCRIPT

Return to your reason when you choose an idea or decide what the video needs to say.

02

YOUR IDEA

Your experience gives you material. Turn one specific moment, question, or lesson into a video with one clear point.

YOUR GOAL: FIND SOMETHING WORTH SAYING

Daily accountability. Weekly calls with coaching and Q&A. Resources and a creator community to help you apply each step and level up your content.

START YOUR 30-DAY CHALLENGE >

STAGE 02 / YOUR IDEA / 7

START WITH SOMETHING REAL

Build a bank of material from what you have experienced, rather than trying to sound like every creator you watch.

FIND A REAL SITUATION

Start with a clear situation: who, where, and what is happening. Choose a real moment you can describe, then name what you wanted and what got in the way.

FIND THE CHANGE AND THE RESULT

What happened that shifted something? How did it end? Use those questions to identify the turning point and result in the moment you chose.

FIND A FRESH ANGLE

Write the obvious take: what does every other video on this subject say? Then ask what you actually experienced that complicates that take. Choose that angle before writing.

KEEP ONE IDEA IN THE VIDEO

Develop one idea. Write your point in one sentence before filming, using the checklist. Remove a second point that asks the viewer to follow another topic.

STUDY YOUR OWN ATTENTION

Watch yourself watching content. Ask which videos engage you, why you finish them, and why you like, comment, or share. Write down the answers and apply the observations.

YOUR NEXT ACTION

Choose one true moment from your notes. Write the one point it supports, and the question the viewer will want answered.

BUILD YOUR IDEA BANK

Use short notes here. You are collecting real material before you write a finished script.

A REAL SITUATION: WHO, WHERE, AND WHAT HAPPENED?

WHAT DID I WANT, AND WHAT GOT IN THE WAY?

WHAT CHANGED, AND HOW DID IT END?

THE SPECIFIC MOMENT I WILL USE FIRST

THE ONE POINT THIS MOMENT SUPPORTS

ANGLE CHECK

What is the obvious take on this topic? What did you experience that complicates it? Answer those questions before you draft.

03

THE SCRIPT

Give the viewer a question worth staying for. Develop the point with something concrete, then answer the question you opened.

YOUR GOAL: WRITE A COMPLETE VIDEO

START YOUR 30-DAY CHALLENGE >

STAGE 03 / THE SCRIPT / 10

MAKE THE FIRST LINE COUNT

Your first line creates the reason to keep watching. Grab attention in the first three seconds, then let the opening build naturally across roughly five seconds.

RAISE A SPECIFIC QUESTION

Write the exact question your opening raises. If you cannot name it, the opening is too vague. Curiosity comes from the claim you make, rather than announcing that something important is coming.

CHOOSE A HOOK SHAPE

Impossible premise: imply something beyond the limit the viewer assumes.

Replacement demand: challenge the explanation the viewer normally uses, so they want the alternative.

Implicit reversal: suggest that something the viewer trusts may be causing the problem.

SKIP THE INTRODUCTION

Skip "hey guys, it's me" and get straight to it. Make a specific claim instead of announcing "what I'm about to tell you will change your life."

SAY IT ALOUD

Read the opening at your normal speaking pace. Give it a natural build, room to land the point, and words that sound fresh rather than generic.

THE QUESTION MY HOOK OPENS

YOUR NEXT ACTION

Write the opening, read it aloud, and check that the video will actually answer the question it creates.

HOOK. RETAIN. REWARD.

Use this three-part structure as the starting outline for your first video.

HOOK What specific question opens the video?	RETAIN What story, example, or context develops the point?
REWARD What lesson, reveal, or result answers the question?	VOICE CHECK Would you say these words on a normal day?

MAKE THE MIDDLE USEFUL

Give the viewer a reason to want the payoff. Develop the one point with a concrete example or scene. Keep each line doing work toward the answer.

MAKE THE ENDING SATISFY THE OPENING

Close the loop by returning to the hook. Resolve the exact promise from the beginning, so the viewer understands what the video was building toward.

WRITE IN YOUR SPEAKING VOICE

Read each line aloud. Rewrite anything that sounds like an essay or like something you would never say. Use concrete details and simple connectors such as and, but, so, and because.

A TECHNIQUE TO EXPLORE LATER

For a longer short-form script, you can build anticipation with multiple open questions before starting the payoff around 20 seconds. Keep those opening lines substantive. For your first video, use the simpler Hook / Retain / Reward outline.

TELL THE MOMENT

When your video uses a story, give each of these five beats a clear job.

1. SITUATION

Give a clear starting point: who, where, and what is happening.

2. DESIRE

Name what the character wants. The goal gives the viewer a reason to care.

3. CONFLICT

Show what gets in the way. Make the obstacle clear enough that the viewer wonders whether the goal will be reached.

4. CHANGE

Name the turning point: what happens that shifts something?

5. RESULT

Show how it ends. Tie the story together and make the viewer's time feel worthwhile.

THE REAL SCENE I WILL TELL

KEEP IT SPECIFIC

Use a real, small moment from your life. Name the scene before attaching the lesson.

SEE THE POINT DEVELOP

Read this example to see how one point becomes a set of concrete actions.

“The first thing you do is you put out a video every single day and you ask yourself when you make that video, would I watch this video? Sit there and watch it like it showed up on your feed. Ask yourself, where in the video do I get bored? Where in the video do I want to scroll away? Where in the video do I stop engaging with it? The second thing you do is instead of just aimlessly consuming content, watch yourself watching content. Study the way that you interact with content. Which videos engage you? Why? Why did you watch that all the way through? If you engage with the video, you liked it, you commented, you shared, why? Ask yourself why. Write all these things down on a piece of paper and the next time you go to make a video, do that.”

WHAT TO NOTICE

The point becomes concrete questions the viewer can use. The words address "you." The example ends with an action: write down the observations and use them in the next video.

APPLY THE METHOD TO YOUR OWN WORK

Watch your first draft as if it appeared in your feed. Mark where you would stop paying attention. That is material for the edit.

04

FILM IT

Make the point easy to see and hear. The posting checklist gives you a simple setup and a clear way to speak on camera.

START YOUR 30-DAY CHALLENGE >

STAGE 04 / FILM IT / 15

A SIMPLE PHONE SETUP

Make the point easy to see and hear with these steps from the Content Posting Checklist.

1. CLEAN THE LENS

Wipe the phone lens before filming.

2. PUT LIGHT IN FRONT OF YOU

Face a window. Put the light in front of you, never behind you.

3. CHOOSE A QUIET SPACE

Use a quiet room or your car to reduce echo.

4. KEEP THE PHONE STEADY

For a talking-head video, prop the phone up so it does not move. If you are on the move, hold it steady.

5. SPEAK TO ONE PERSON

Look at the lens rather than at yourself. Say "you," rather than "you guys." Skip the introduction and get straight to the point.

6. RECORD LINE BY LINE IF NEEDED

Record until it feels right. Nail one line, then the next.

BEFORE YOU PRESS RECORD

Can you say the one thing this post is about in one sentence? If you cannot, go back to the idea and script worksheets.

05

EDIT IT

Watch the recording as a viewer. Remove the dead time, make the words readable, and keep the point moving.

STAGE 05 / EDIT IT / 17

THE QUICK EDIT

Use the Instagram Edits app for the quick edit described in the checklist. Focus on removing dead time, adding captions, and watching the result.

1. CUT PAUSES AND UMS

Remove pauses, verbal filler, and dead air. Cut between the parts you keep so the point keeps moving.

2. ADD READABLE CAPTIONS

Turn captions on, make them large enough to read, and correct the words. You can also try captions that appear word by word.

3. WATCH THE WHOLE THING

Watch the whole video and remove one more boring second. Cut the places where you lose interest in your own video.

4. USE VARIETY WHEN THE DELIVERY GOES FLAT

Try a tighter crop at a beat change, a shift in vocal energy, or captions to add variety without another camera. Start with the quick edit, then use these tools where the video needs them.

THE MOMENT I GOT BORED ON THE WATCH-THROUGH

WHAT I WILL CUT OR CHANGE

YOUR NEXT ACTION

Watch from the beginning to the end. Check that the hook still opens the question and the ending still answers it.

06

POST + LEARN

Use the checklist to publish. Then carry one lesson into the next video and keep the cycle going.

YOUR GOAL: PUBLISH AND IMPROVE ONE THING

START YOUR 30-DAY CHALLENGE >

STAGE 06 / POST + LEARN / 19

CHECK IT. POST IT.

Use the checklist as your publishing bar: when the boxes are checked, the post is good enough to publish.

WRITE THE CAPTION IN THREE LINES

What it is.

Why it matters.

What to do.

Those are the three lines specified in the posting checklist.

RUN THE FRIEND TEST

Ask whether you would share it with a friend just because it is good. Ask for specific criticism rather than a vague "looks great."

USE THE REUSABLE POSTING CHECKLIST

The full checklist is included later in this kit. The partner-link box applies to posts that use a partner link.

MOVE FROM PUBLISHING INTO LEARNING

Improve one variable per upload. Pick a specific change for the next video rather than trying to solve every part of content at once.

READY FOR DAILY ACCOUNTABILITY?

Launch your first challenge through the link below. Get daily accountability, weekly content calls, coaching, resources, and a creator community. We show you how to apply the process and improve your content step by step.

MAKE THE NEXT ONE BETTER

Use this review loop: inspect your work, study your own attention, and improve one variable per upload.

WATCH YOUR OWN VIDEO

Ask where you get bored, want to scroll away, or stop engaging. Write the answers down.

WATCH YOURSELF WATCHING OTHER CONTENT

Notice why you finish a video, like it, comment, or share. Write down what caused the response. Use the observation when making the next video.

CHOOSE ONE VARIABLE

Choose one thing to improve: script effort, editing, vocal delivery, lighting, pacing, the hook, or the payoff. Focus on that one change in your next upload.

ASK FOR SPECIFIC FEEDBACK

Ask for honest criticism of the work: where is the hook weak, where does the pacing slow, or where does the payoff fall short? Use that feedback to choose a concrete improvement.

WHAT MADE ME WANT TO STOP WATCHING?

THE ONE VARIABLE I WILL IMPROVE NEXT

THE CONTENT POSTING CHECKLIST

Check every applicable box before you hit post. The partner-link item applies when you use one.

01 / BEFORE YOU FILM

- ☐ Lens wiped clean.
- ☐ Light in front of you. Face a window. Never behind you.
- ☐ Quiet room, or your car. Both kill echo.
- ☐ You know the ONE thing this post is about. Say it in one sentence first.

02 / THE 3 PARTS

- ☐ Hook: The first line or first 3 seconds. It has to stop the scroll and beg a question.
- ☐ Retain: A story, example, anecdote, or context that backs up the point - something that makes people want the payoff.
- ☐ Reward: The payoff. The core lesson, the reveal, the result. Whatever question the hook begged gets answered here.

05 / BEFORE YOU POST

- ☐ Caption has 3 lines: what it is, why it matters, what to do.
- ☐ If you are using a partner link: your partner link is in there and it works.
- ☐ Ask the friend test: Would you share this with a friend just because it is good?

03 / FILMING

- ☐ Talking head? Prop the phone up so it does not move. On the move, like rucking? Just hold it steady.
- ☐ Eyes on the lens, not on yourself.
- ☐ Talking to one person, not "you guys."
- ☐ No introductions. Skip "hey guys, it is me." Say what the video is about and get straight to it.
- ☐ Record until it feels right. Line by line works - nail one line, then the next.

04 / QUICK EDIT

INSTAGRAM EDITS APP

- ☐ Pauses and "ums" are cut out.
- ☐ Captions are on, big enough to read, and the words are correct.
- ☐ You watched it back once and cut one more boring second.

Every applicable box checked? Post it.

YOUR ONE-VIDEO OUTLINE

Fill this in before filming. Use the Hook / Retain / Reward structure, then check the question and your speaking voice.

THE ONE THING THIS POST IS ABOUT

HOOK / MY FIRST LINE

THE QUESTION THE HOOK OPENS

RETAIN / MY STORY, EXAMPLE, OR CONTEXT

REWARD / THE ANSWER OR LESSON

READ IT ALOUD

Would you actually say these words? Does the ending answer the opening question?

Use the row to capture a real edit or delivery change: the hook, lighting, pacing, script, vocal delivery, or payoff. The next upload is where you apply it.

YOUR NEXT STEP

CREATE WITH GUIDANCE + ACCOUNTABILITY.

Your first 30 days, with step-by-step support from Creator Launchpad.

Daily accountability: commit to one new video each day.

Weekly content calls: interactive workshops, coaching, and Q&A to help you understand what to do and how to improve.

Resources: content tools, templates, and a tracker to help you put the process into practice.

Community: create alongside other members, share your work, and get support as you go.

We walk you through how to make content and level it up. Bring your goal; use the resources, calls, and coaching to take the next step.

30 days. One channel. One new, original video per day.
