BREAKING COMMON BELIEFS

You do not need to feel ready before you put yourself out there.

COMMON BELIEF

PEOPLE I KNOW WILL JUDGE ME

THE TRUTH

- Friends, family, or coworkers may make comments. Some judgment is a real possibility. It does not have to decide whether you start.
- Criticism can come from people who are afraid to put themselves out there. Their fear does not have to become yours.
- Think of a day-one white belt in jiu-jitsu. Experienced people know what starting feels like. You are allowed to be a beginner.

Make the video even if someone you know might see it. Their reaction is not a prerequisite for posting.

COMMON BELIEF

I AM NOT INTERESTING

THE TRUTH

- Your life and knowledge feel ordinary to you because you live with them every day. You do not decide what someone else finds interesting.
- You cannot know which part of your content will connect until you put it out there.

Choose something you care about and make a video about it. Give other people the chance to find it interesting.

COMMON BELIEF

NOBODY WILL WATCH

THE TRUTH

- A small audience gives you room to experiment. You have fewer expectations to meet and more freedom to try different ideas.
- You do not have to protect an established brand before you have built one. Use this stage to find what connects.

Post an idea you want to try. Treat it as an experiment, rather than a verdict on whether you should create content.

COMMON BELIEF

I NEED BETTER GEAR FIRST

THE TRUTH

- You can start with your phone. Better gear is not a requirement for making a video people want to watch.
- A simple phone video can feel natural and personal. Focus on what you are saying and whether people can see and hear you.

Use the phone you already have. Make the video before deciding you need an equipment upgrade.

COMMON BELIEF

WHO AM I TO TALK ABOUT THIS?

THE TRUTH

- Someone is dealing with a problem you have already solved. Share what helped you, and be clear about the experience you actually have.
- If you are still solving the problem, document the process. Share what you are trying instead of claiming expertise you do not have.
- A blue belt can help a white belt. You do not need to be a black belt to help someone a step behind you.

Choose one problem you have solved and explain what worked. Or show a problem you are working through and what you are trying.

COMMON BELIEF

IT IS TOO LATE. IT IS TOO SATURATED

THE TRUTH

- A crowded space is not a reason to rule yourself out. Competence and excellence still matter when there are many people competing.
- The number of people in the race does not decide how well you can run. Put your attention on getting better.

Make a video. Then improve one thing in the next one. Give yourself a chance to develop the skill.

WHAT'S YOUR WHY?

What is the ultimate reason for your personal brand? What do you want to ultimately have happen? The purpose of your brand will influence the content that you make.

BE KNOWN

Do you want more people to know who you are?

CREATE CHANGE

Do you want social or political change?

DRIVE LEADS

Do you want leads for your business?

SHARE A MESSAGE

Is there something you want people to hear?

GIVE YOURSELF A CLEAR REASON

- Choose the outcome you want, or name another one.
- Use it to decide what your video needs to say.

I AM CREATING CONTENT BECAUSE...

WHAT I WANT TO HAPPEN IS...

KEEP IT SIMPLE

For each video, choose one point that serves that purpose.

THE THREE TYPES OF VALUE

Before you hit record, understand what you want the viewer to walk away with. It must check at least one of these three boxes. Otherwise, it's not worth posting.

EDUCATION / HELP THEM DO SOMETHING

Show someone how to do something. Solve a problem or explain something they need to understand.

EXAMPLE: HOW TO BURN MORE CALORIES WITHOUT WORKING OUT.

ENTERTAINMENT / MAKE THEM FEEL GOOD

Make them laugh, smile, or feel happy. Give them something enjoyable to watch.

EXAMPLE: GOING TO EVERY CHINESE BUFFET UNTIL I GET FOOD POISONING.

INSPIRATION / MOVE THEM TO ACT

Share an inspiring story or your transformation. Help them feel ready to take action.

EXAMPLE: SHARE A WEIGHT LOSS TRANSFORMATION AND EXPLAIN HOW DISCIPLINE WAS CRUCIAL TO IT.

CHECK AT LEAST ONE BOX

- A video can educate, entertain, and inspire all at once.
- Doing all three is difficult, but possible.
- You can check multiple boxes, but you must check at least one.
- If the video delivers none of these types of value, do not post it.

MY VIDEO GIVES (CHOOSE ONE OR MORE): EDUCATION / ENTERTAINMENT / INSPIRATION

WHAT THE VIEWER WILL WALK AWAY WITH IS...

START YOUR 30-DAY CHALLENGE >

KEEP THE SETUP SIMPLE.

Make the video easy to see, hear, and follow.

BEFORE YOU RECORD

- Wipe the lens.
- Face a window so the light is in front of you.
- Choose a quiet space.
- Prop the phone up or hold it steady.

KNOW THE WORDS BEFORE YOU RECORD

- Do not do your thinking on camera.
- Know what you are going to say before hitting record.
- Record one line at a time if needed.

WHILE YOU RECORD

- Look at the lens, not at yourself.
- Talk to one friend.
- Say the line you prepared, then record the next one.

MAKE A QUICK EDIT

- Cut pauses, ums, and dead time.
- If you add on-screen captions, make them readable and correct the words.

WATCH IT ONCE

- Watch as if it appeared in your feed.
- Notice where you get bored or want to scroll.
- Cut that part while keeping the point clear.

ENOUGH TO PUBLISH

A clear point, a natural delivery, and a clean edit. Focus on the content.

TALKING TO A CAMERA

We live in a video-first world. Getting comfortable being on video is part of creating content.

EXPECT THE DISCOMFORT

- If you are not used to being on camera, it can feel uncomfortable.
- You may feel like you sound stupid.
- That is okay.
- You can make a video while it still feels awkward.

TALK LIKE YOU ARE ON FACETIME

- Imagine one friend on the other side of the phone.
- Look at the lens.
- Explain the point the way you would explain it to that friend.

PICK SOMETHING YOU CARE ABOUT

- Talk about something you are passionate about.
- An idea you are not interested in makes you force the delivery.
- Trying to manufacture charisma can sound artificial.

LET YOURSELF SOUND LIKE YOURSELF

- Use words you actually say.
- Skip the presenter voice and the long introduction.
- Record line by line if that helps.

WHEN YOU RECORD

Pick a point you care about. Look at the lens. Say it to one friend. Record it even if you feel awkward.

HOOK, RETAIN, REWARD

Raise a question. Build on it. Give the viewer the answer.

HOOK / RAISE A SPECIFIC QUESTION

The first three seconds need to raise a question the viewer wants answered in this video. Where is this going? What does this mean? What does the other side of this transformation look like? What will this recipe look like when it is done?

EXAMPLE: "HERE'S HOW TO LOSE WEIGHT WITHOUT A BUNCH OF EFFORT." THE QUESTION: HOW?

RETAIN / BUILD ON THE HOOK

Use context, a story, or an example that builds on the hook and keeps the viewer moving toward the answer. In the weight loss video, show where you started, your transformation, and where you are now.

EXAMPLE: "I KNOW THIS BECAUSE HERE'S WHERE I WAS, AND HERE'S WHERE I AM NOW."

REWARD / DELIVER THE ANSWER

Give the lesson learned or reveal what caused the transformation. Answer the specific question your hook raised.

EXAMPLE: EXPLAIN THE CHANGE THAT CAUSED YOUR WEIGHT LOSS TRANSFORMATION.

CONNECT ALL THREE

The hook raises the question. The context builds on it. The reward answers it. Make sure the video delivers what the opening made the viewer want to know.

YOUR CONTENT CHECKLIST

Check these boxes, then post the video.

☐ I KNOW WHY I AM MAKING THIS VIDEO.

☐ I KNOW WHICH TYPE OF VALUE I AM GIVING.

☐ THE VIDEO MAKES ONE CLEAR POINT.

☐ THE OPENING GIVES A REASON TO KEEP WATCHING.

☐ I SOUND LIKE MYSELF TALKING TO ONE PERSON.

☐ THE VIDEO IS EASY TO SEE AND HEAR.

☐ I CUT THE DEAD TIME AND BORING PARTS.

☐ THE ENDING DELIVERS THE POINT.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE

Publish the video, then use the next one to practice and improve.

MAKE THE NEXT VIDEO BETTER.

Everyone says consistency is key, but in reality, iteration is key. Consistently posting bad videos will get you nowhere. You have to pick one thing to get better at every single video.

REVIEW YOUR OWN VIDEO

- Watch it as if it appeared in your feed.
- Where do you get bored?
- Where do you want to scroll?
- Write down the specific moment.

STUDY YOUR OWN ATTENTION

- Notice which videos you watch all the way through.
- Ask why you kept watching.
- If you like, comment, or share, ask what made you do it.

CHOOSE ONE CHANGE

- Pick one thing to improve: the opening, delivery, lighting, edit, or payoff.
- Apply that change to your next video.

THE PART I WANT TO IMPROVE IS...

IN MY NEXT VIDEO, I WILL...
